Renewed enthusiasm for chamber

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is facing the new season with enthusiasm, with good attendance at last week's meeting and numerous ideas coming forth for the EcoCentre project.

Bob Bezpalko recently took recreation director Valerie Lazicki on a tour of the building, "and she is looking at grants that might be available." Bezpalko has contacted some potential donors and found at least one that was "very interested. They were happy to see that we plan to be self-supporting, and about our educational component."

St. Paul and District Co-op general manager Bob Scott came up with the idea of a shopping spree as a fundraiser, with the chamber to sell tickets, Bezpalko said.

The Town of Elk Point has generously offered to construct the pad for the wind turbine tower, once approval is received. The pad will require 28 days to cure before the tower can be installed. B & R Eckels has agreed to transport the tower to the site.

The EcoCentre foyer "will be an actual working station," used by Lazicki and himself, Bezpalko said, with a visitor information hostess, hopefully a university student, in place for a six-month period next summer. High school students interested in tourism or the environment could also be part of the staff.

When the EcoCentre is complete, "it will set this community apart in the area. Nobody will have what we have."

Chamber president Sandy Smith said she will be making a presentation to the County of St. Paul this week. She also has another fundraiser in the planning stages, and other potential fundraisers, including the sale of souvenirs in the centre, were suggested during the meeting.

FCSS Director Deanna Easthope and her assistant, Sue Cleland, are "working to downsize and organize" the contents of their current office, which is larger than their new location, Easthope said. "We hope the downstairs storage will work out."

NLLS growing, along with annual conference

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Construction is going full speed ahead on the additions and renovations to the Northern Lights Library System headquarters, but director Mircea Panciuk says that while day-to-day work is somewhat of a challenge, the massive $2.3 million upgrade won't affect the annual NLLS conference, which goes next week.

"We have 158 people registered," Panciuk says, "and this will be our first time in the new Arts and Leisure Centre."

The theme of this year's conference is 'Libraries Grow With Us,' and with the headquarters growing, Panciuk says he feels this is "an excellent theme." The opening keynote speaker fits right in with the theme, also: second-generation gardening expert and writer Jim Hole of Hole's Greenhouses and Gardens, he noted.

Other speakers range from local artist Donna Chamberland, who will give a session entitled, "Art in your lives and in your libraries," and representatives from St. Paul Education Regional Division No. 1 with a session on supplementing the Accelerated Reader Program to experts from NLLS, other libraries, library systems and library organizations.

Renewed enthusiasm: chamber

Bezpalco thanked the FCSS for providing a board table for the upstairs meeting room and a desk for the foyer.

The chamber's information session on Aug. 15 proved worthwhile, Smith said. "It was interesting, and quite a few of our visitors were firing questions at us. It's good to let people know what is going on."

Information about the EcoCentre will also be available tonight at the chamber's table at the 25th Annual Information Night in the Elks Hall.

Information on ATV traffic collected at the tourist information centre this summer show over 500 quads passed the building during the 56 days the centre was open, Bezpalco said. "I want to call a meeting of all the downtown businesses next spring and make them aware of the potential. There's a lot of money coming in off that trail. We can have Mary Ann Price come in and do a presentation."

The chamber also discussed the educational component of the EcoCentre.

Town manager Myron Goyan reminded the chamber that a MERX public tendering workshop is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 9 at 1 p.m. in town council chambers, at which businesses can find out how to go about getting government supply contracts. "There are lots of opportunities there," he noted.

NLLS to host conference

The well-rounded program provides library board members and staff from across the Northern Lights system with information on everything from building and renovating a library to repairing its books, from censorship and succession planning to holistic health options. Participants will also have the opportunity to tour Fort George and Buckingham House Historic Site and to compete in the Third Annual Library Cart Precision Drill.

Construction will be uninterrupted by the conference.

"On the front, where the planters were, will be a four-vehicle garage," Panciuk says. "The reception area is coming to the front. At the back, we're filling in the empty space with a 2,500-square-foot addition with a workshop and loading garage."

In the existing building, "every wall, except for a 16-foot strip on the south side, is coming out," Panciuk reports. "Our staff is now two or three to an office, and we had to rent three sea cans to store everything in, but we're still in business, and everyone's working through it." They hope to move to the newly renovated north side by late fall, and renovation of the south side will begin, he said. The project should be complete next spring, giving NLLS "a building built for 25 employees. We currently have 16."

Two new consultants have been hired and NLLS is currently interviewing information technology people.

Panciuk notes that, "the service we're offering is head and shoulders above that in other systems, with half the staff."

He adds that, "I have to take my hat off to our staff for the way they are coping with the renovations. We have a happy staff."

Celebrate grandparents this Sunday

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point is gearing up to celebrate Grandparents Day on Sunday, Sept. 13, and celebration organizer Diana Anderson says the afternoon event at the Seniors Recreation Centre is designed "to honour and give thanks for the wonderful support and love grandparents share with their families and community."

The afternoon starts at 2 p.m. with a short walk-a-thon and continues with an afternoon program at the Seniors Centre, Anderson says. "We will have an afternoon of music by Homer Poitras and his band, Karen Dion on the fiddle, young grandchildren doing fine jig dancing, singing by the United Church youth choir and Olivia Leaf. It's a family celebration. We'll have cake and coffee for everyone, plus a dig for treasure and a plinko game for the children."

Anderson invites everyone to "come and hear the stories and poems that the Elk Point Elementary School children bring, telling how important their grandparents are to them."

A special feature this year is free family pictures, funded by the Town of Elk Point.

"Please come and enjoy yourselves. There will be good food, good company, music, games, singing and dancing. It should be a wonderful time."

Those who bring in a pledge sheet with a total of $100 or more will be eligible to enter a draw for dinner theatre tickets for two. Other prizes will go to the top fundraiser, oldest walker and the youngest grandparent walking.

The funds raised this year, Anderson says, "will go to support three causes. The first is to help the Seniors Centre pay their utility bills. The second is to support the operation of the new wheelchair-accessible handi-van bus so members of the community can use it at little or no cost."

"The third project is to support African grandparents in Loshoto, Tanzania, who because of AIDS, are left trying to raise their grandchildren with almost no way to feed themselves, let alone send the kids to school. Last year, we were able to raise enough funds to support 12 families and send one of their brightest children to school."

Without help, Anderson says, "These children would have to work the fields to try and help their families. Their only hope for any future lies in education." The cost for one family is approximately $750. Education, which includes school fees, supplies, uniform and health services, "plus a hurricane lamp so the student can study in the evening - there is no electricity or running water there," is $390. The remaining $360 goes to feed the family, at $30 per month.

"Your generous support is much appreciated. It's hard for us to wrap our minds around such poverty when we have such an abundance here," Anderson says. For more information, please call her at (780) 724-4072.

Quarter century of information

It's hard to believe that Information Night has already reached its quarter-century mark. Twenty-five years ago, someone had a great idea: to showcase all the community has to offer at an open house where residents could learn about programs, activities and services that were available. Over the years, countless groups and agencies have taken their show on the road to the Elks Hall, packed in brochures, displays and video players, and spent a September evening meeting and greeting the public.

Groups such as the Ukrainian Dance Club, Minor Hockey and Further Education have signed up people for the coming season, local churches have dispensed information on service times and special events, service clubs have sought out members and explained what their group does for the community.

Special displays, such as those brought in by Atco Electric to increase awareness of safe ways to use electricity and the displays of quilts brought in by the Red Cross, have been part of the event many years, and there have also been special visitors, such as Wormsworth the Bookworm, the RCMP Safety Bear, and Sparky the Fire Dog, who were big hits with the youngest visitors to the events.

Keep up the good work, and all the best in the next 25!

Way Back When...

Rec land, novice rider and retirees

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND THE ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF SEPT. 8 IN...

1984

A long, hot summer of town council debates over the purchase of land for recreational development ended in a pair of defeated motions before a motion was passed by a narrow 3-2 margin to purchase the land from Dr. K. C. Miller for $150,000. Pearl Slywka retired after 16 years on the staff of Elk Point Hospital, where she was a respected and enthusiastic member of the staff.

1989

Doug and Val Dale were more than $92,000 richer after a big Lotto 6/49 win. The Elk Point Pacers Basketball Club kicked off donations to the F. G. Miller High School's basketball backboard project with the presentation of $1,000.

1994

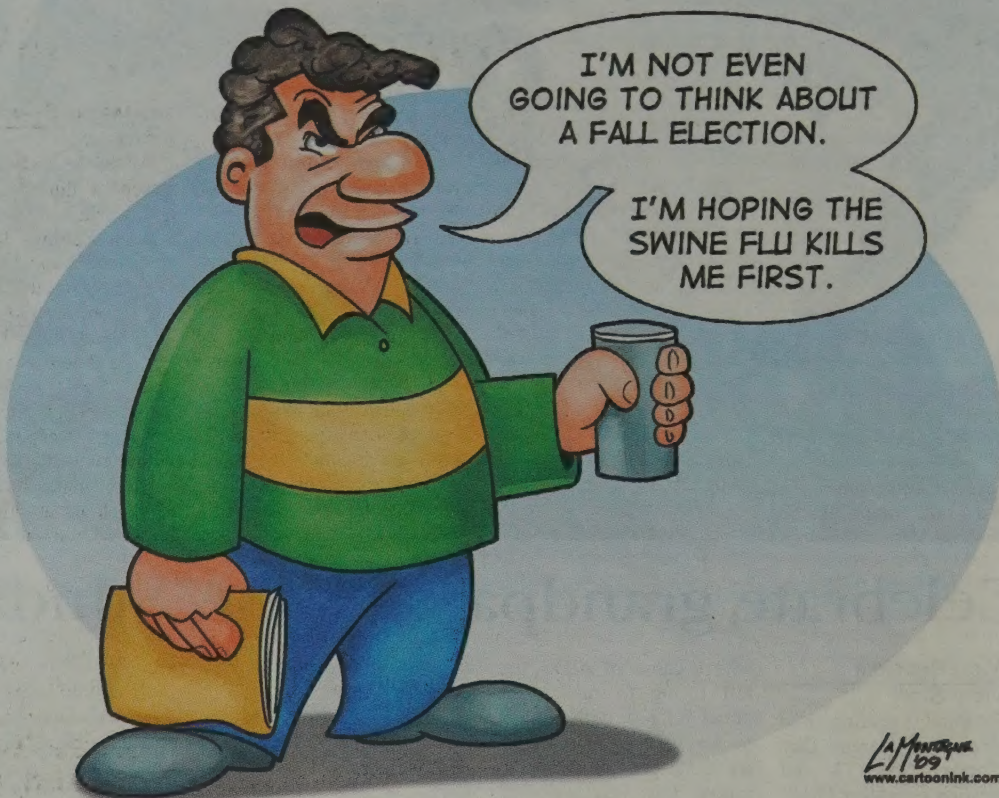

Seventeen-year-old Heinsburg cowboy C.J. Best won the Novice Horse Riding championship at the Lakeland Rodeo Association's Showdown finals in St. Paul. James and Taralee Babenek hosted an achievement day for their 4-H pheasant project, with Elk Point Multi Club overall leader Lorraine Danyluk and Alberta Fish and Wildlife representative Wayne Brown on hand to tour their facility.

1999

A dozen retired teachers with a combined total of more than 300 years in the classroom celebrated the first day of school for their successors with a breakfast and reminiscences at the Empress. Elk Point Chamber of Commerce enthused over the appearance of the new downtown sidewalks at their first meeting after the summer break.

2004

Danielle Schnurer was among 100 Alberta Centennial Ambassadors who would motivate and encourage residents, groups and organizations to celebrate Alberta's 100th birthday in 2005. The chamber's summer projects, including Shop Locally, the Canada Day breakfast and a 44 per cent increase in visitation at the tourist information centre added up to a success as meetings resumed after the two-month break.

GUEST COLUMN

Celebrating information and grandparents

Eventful days should always be celebration days. Of course you all know what today is and why we are celebrating! Yes, that is right - it is the Annual Information Night in Elk Point. And, it is the 25th, so yes, come out tonight. Besides visiting with all the exhibitors, make sure you stop and enjoy a piece of the anniversary cake.

The next celebration day is around the corner. Grandparents Day is this coming Sunday which is Sept. 13. You can be a part of the walk or you can come and enjoy the celebration at the Seniors' Centre. It is good to celebrate grandparents.

Speaking of grandparents, there is a poem by an unknown author, which really explains how our grandparents can be busy people.

Modern Grandma

*In the dim and distant past
When life's tempo wasn't fast,
Grandma used to rock and knit,
Crochet, tat and baby-sit.
When her kids were in a jam,
They could always count on Gram.
In a age of gracious living*

deanna
EASTHOPE

from the FCSS desk

*Grandma was the gal for giving.
Grandma now is in the gym,
Exercising to keep slim,
She's off touring with the bunch,
Taking clients out to lunch,
Driving north to ski or curl;
All her days are in a whirl.
Nothing seems to stop or block her
Now that Grandma's off her rocker.*

This poem describes some of our grandparents to a "T" because we know them as our very own modern grandparents. But irregardless, a grandparent is a grandparent and it is time to celebrate them.

National Grandparents Day began in Canada in 1995. Motion Number 273 moved in the House of Commons by Sarkis Assadourian read: "That, in the opinion of this House, the government should consider designating the second Sunday in September of each year as grandparent's day in order to acknowledge their importance to the structure of the family in the nurturing, upbringing and education of children."

In the United States the day is different. That is because in 1978, Congress passed legislation proclaiming the first Sunday after Labor Day as National Grandparents Day and then - President Jimmy Carter signed the proclamation. The statute cites the day's purpose as "... to honor grandparents, to give grandparents an opportunity to show love for their children's children, and to help children become aware of strength, information, and guidance older people can offer."

Guess what, did you all realize something. Yes, this year, Grandparents Day in Canada and Grandparents Day in the United States happen to fall on the same Sunday. It is definitely a celebration day, so let's celebrate.

Happy Grandparents Day, everyone!

Heritage Lodge goes traveling in August

BY HEATHER DEMCHUK
Activity Coordinator

In August, we traveled to new and interesting places. On Aug. 11, we went out to Ferguson Flats for a picnic with Olga Ockerman and friends to view the one-room schoolhouse. It brought back a lot of memories for some and they reminisced about their schools and their school days. Aug. 26 found us on the road again and we enjoyed a well-planned and acted out tour of the Ukrainian Village. Ron, our driver, took us on a tour of Elk Island on the way back.

Regular activities have continued with a few additions. We only went on two "Walk and Talks" to cafés in town on Friday, Aug. 7 and then again on Thursday, Aug. 20. Participating residents have been enjoying the outings, thanks to the volunteers who make this possible. On Aug. 6, we armchair-traveled to the Ukraine, followed by our happy hour. On Aug. 6, we were visited by the Hillside residents, who joined in our bingo games. Musical entertainment this month was provided by Homer Poitras on Aug. 10, followed by John and Gloria on Aug. 12, Roy, Clayton and the Three Js played on Aug. 22, with Charles Magnusson dropping in on Aug. 26.

September has us on the road again. We have a wiener roast scheduled for Sept. 1 with Dick Millar down by the river. On Sept. 8, we will be dining at Priscilla Goossen's after exploring the Dewberry Museum. On Sept. 18, we will be joining two other lodges at Camp St. Louis on Moose Lake for our annual outing.

Musical entertainment on the calendar so far is Andy and friends on Sept. 9 and Babe Sharkey on Sept. 17.

The Alzheimer's Coffee Break is on Sept. 17 with a spelling bee planned for 10:30 and a coffee break and donations from 1:30 to 3:00. Please invite friends and relatives for either or both activities.

The Resident Council meeting is scheduled for Sept. 22 at 10:30 a.m.

The Auxiliary is looking for more members. Any interested community member is welcome to join. Relatives of residents are especially encouraged to join. Please contact Heather at 724-4449 for more information.

'Stump Farm' author to speak @ the library

BY DAPHNE SCHNURER
Librarian

With the kids returning to school, things are slowly getting back to normal.

Our weather has been spectacular, so when you're out enjoying the fall sunshine, be sure to drop by and check out that book you've been meaning to read. Albertans know the great weather just won't last, so take advantage of it while you can.

Also, make sure to stop at our table at Information Night tonight and check out our display.

Some great new young adult books arrived over the summer, so be sure to come in to see these selections.

Wednesday, Sept. 16 will be a busy day at the library, with our first Seniors Tea of the season at 2 p.m. and an author visit in the evening.

Canadian national best-selling author Robert J. Adams, whose books range from "The Stump Farm" to "Horse Cop," "Fish Cop" and many more, will be at the library at 7 p.m. on Sept.

16, so mark your calendars and plan to come early. Adams' books are very popular and we're expecting a large turnout of his fans to be on hand for this event.

Our other regular programs will be starting soon, so watch this column for further details in the coming weeks.

IN MEMORIAM

SERNIAK, Sheena Dawn

Oct. 19, 1985-Sept. 9, 2002

Why God??
The first thing that I asked God
was just the reason why when he took my precious daughter beyond the stars in the sky
as we held on to her body
I then started to scream and shout was this God so really kind as people were making out but my anger then turned to sadness
as we held her in our arms
she was still our beautiful daughter truly an angel with all her charms it was then I started to wonder as my eyes filled up to cry was my angel needed elsewhere and is that the reason why.

Love you to the moon and back.

Dad

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our daughter

SHEENA DAWN SERNAK
Oct 19, 1985 - Sept. 9, 2002.

The seven years has gone by
Without you at our side,
So many times we needed you.
So many times we cried.
Treasured are the memories
We keep them in our hearts.
On the day we lost you
Our whole world fell apart.
Your resting place we visit
And say a silent prayer
But no one knows the heartache
As we turn and leave you there.

God Bless You Sheena!
We'll Love and Remember You Always
Love: Mommy, Bob, Shelbie
Grandpa & Grandma and Family

ONUSKO, Ron
September 8, 2006

It has been three years since your passing. All of us feel your absence every day - as husband, father, grandfather and friend.

Time has begun to slowly ease our pain and you remain with us through a vital and vibrant legacy.

Your grandchildren - Clara displays your inquisitive nature and strong will, Tristan boasts your goal scoring prowess in soccer, Belle is a sensitive artist with her painting and drawing and Emma is a prodigious reader and writer. The best of you grows and thrives in all of them. We miss you oh so very much, but a lifetime of memories from time spent with you continues to give us strength. Our lives are forever richer because of you.

Love always - Carolyn, Jim, Cassie, Leslie & Nick.

Charges laid after campground argument turns physical

By Cst. John Spaans
Elk Point RCMP

On Aug. 29, Elk Point RCMP responded to a complaint of a female being assaulted by her spouse in the area of Whitney Lakes.

The suspect and victim were sitting around a campfire when they began to argue. The argument turned physical when the suspect threw a glass of alcohol at the victim. Fearing for her safety, the victim ran into their trailer. The suspect located an axe and tried to chop at the door. When he could not gain entry, he wandered away, providing the victim with the opportunity to run away and call police. When police arrived on scene, the suspect fled on foot. The suspect confronted many fellow campers looking for a place to hide but was turned away at every request.

The suspect was located a short time later when he returned to the residence. He was arrested without further incident. The 50-year-old Kitscoty resident has been charged with assault with a weapon and possession of a weapon for a dangerous purpose.

Suspected shooting

During the afternoon of Sept. 1, Elk Point RCMP received a call of possible shooting south of Frog Lake. A 24-year-old male was walking along a gravel road near Highway 897 when a grey Dodge pickup truck drove in front of him and blocked his path. Words were exchanged between the pedestrian and the driver and the pedestrian began to run away. As the pedestrian ran, he heard what he believed to be three gunshots ring out from the suspect vehicle. The man ran to a nearby residence and contacted the police. The suspect vehicle was last seen heading southbound on Highway 897. Police continue to investigate this matter. Anyone with information regarding the incident is encouraged to contact the Elk Point RCMP.

Checkstop

Elk Point RCMP conducted a Checkstop on the evening of Aug. 30. The Checkstop was on Highway 646 near Heinsburg. Approximately 175 vehicles were stopped during the operation. Members issued one 24-hour suspension, arrested one male who was on a warrant for weapons offences, charged one suspended driver and issued violation tickets to two drivers who were driving without a license.

MLA Danyluk encouraging local input into provincial electoral boundaries

By SHAUNA BURKE
Review Contributor

MLA Ray Danyluk is encouraging groups and individuals to provide their input on the issue of electoral boundaries at a public meeting scheduled for Sept. 17 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the St. Paul Senior Citizens Centre.

"It is important that there is representation to the committee from rural Alberta," said Danyluk. "Politics is about representation, not just equal representation but equitable representation."

He explained the current boundaries are drawn based on population only, but in rural areas that means one MLA can be responsible for a very large area. While that MLA may have an equal number of people in his riding as someone who is located in a city, it is not equitable because the constituents do not have equal access to the MLA.

"If someone has to drive three hours to visit their MLA, is that equitable?" questioned Danyluk. He explained that in the town of St. Paul we are fortunate to be able to walk across the street to visit his office and express our concerns; however, some of his other constituents have to spend a whole day travelling to come in to talk with him.

The five-member electoral boundaries committee will be re-drawing all the electoral boundaries in the province as four more seats will be added to the Legislative Assembly.

"We have a different challenge from the previous three commissions who recommended revisions to the existing 83 electoral divisions in that we are recommending boundaries for 86 electoral divisions," said Judge Ernest Walter, commission chair, in a press release received from the provincial government.

A brochure will be sent out to all Alberta households in the next week providing more information about the work of the commission. The 2006 federal census information will be used as a basis to review the boundaries. According to that census, the total population of Alberta is 3.29 million, but a new provision allows the commission to use more recent population information in conjunction with the census information.

"Based on this number, electoral divisions will have an average population of 37,820. Currently, the population per electoral division ranges from 23,649 in Dunvegan-Central Peace to 60,611 in Calgary-North West," said Walter in the press release.

Electoral divisions are to be within 25 per cent of the provincial average population except up to four constituencies may exceed that range where sparse population is spread over large areas.

The interim report is expected to be completed by February 2010 and the final report by July 2010. The new electoral map will be used for the next provincial election.

Anyone who cannot make the meeting can submit input by mail to: The Electoral Boundaries Commission, 100 11510 Kingsway Ave., Edmonton Alberta, T5G 2Y5 before October 13.
